Chairman's Letter

23 May 2017

Dear Fellow ASGL Shareholder

I am pleased to introduce the Offer by AMA Group Limited ("AMA") to acquire all of the shares in Automotive Solutions Group Limited ("ASGL") for 35 cents cash per ASGL Share (Offer Price), for cash consideration on-market.

As the Offer is unconditional¹, AMA has instructed its broker, Bell Potter Securities Limited, to purchase ASGL Shares on-market at the Offer Price. This provides ASGL Shareholders with the ability to sell some or all of their ASGL Shares on-market and receive a cash payment on a T+2 basis.

Reasons to accept the Offer

The Offer Price represents a nil premium to the closing price of ASGL Shares on 22nd May 2017 of $0.35 (being the last day on which ASGL Shares traded on the ASX before the announcement date).

The Offer Price represents a premium of 15.1% to the Volume Weighted Average Price of ASGL Shares on the ASX of $0.3042, for the period from 26th April 2017 (being the date of the Announcement to the ASX of the Trading Update and Profit Guidance) to 22nd May 2017 (being the last Trading Day prior to the date of the Bidder's Statement).

The Offer capitalises ASGL at $17.621 million. This is 2.2 times ASGL's net tangible assets ($7.968 million) at 31 December 2016.

There is uncertainty about the future direction of the ASGL following the announcement on 26th April 2017 of a trading update, downward revised profit guidance and the consequential need to undertake a review of its operations (as announced on ASX). This uncertainty was compounded by the subsequent announcement that Ms Tanya Mason had stood down from the role of Chief Executive Officer (and resigned as Director) and has been replaced by ASGL's Chairman, who is now acting in an executive capacity rather than as an independent non-executive, until a suitable replacement has been appointed.

There is very low trading liquidity in ASGL Shares and the Offer allows you to immediately sell all your ASGL Shares. There is currently no competing offer to acquire your ASGL Shares and the ASGL Share price may fall after the Offer.

You should consider the value and certainty of AMA's all-cash Offer compared with the risks and uncertainties of remaining a shareholder in ASGL.

Detailed information in respect of the Offer is set out in this Bidder's Statement. I encourage you to read the entirety of this Bidder's Statement carefully and then accept the Offer as soon as possible.

How to accept the Offer

You may accept the Offer at any time during the Offer Period. The Offer can only be accepted by selling your ASGL Shares on-market. Shares sold on-market will receive a cash payment on a T+2 basis. To accept the Offer, you must sell your ASGL Shares by no later than Offer closing date of 7 July 2017.

The Bidder recommends that you give instructions at the earlier opportunity to avoid missing the Offer closing date.

The Offer is scheduled to close on 7 July 2017 (but it may be extended).

If you have any questions, please contact Mr Andy Sibley on 07 3897 5780 (from within Australia) or +61 7 3897 5780 (from outside Australia), or consult your financial, legal, taxation or other professional adviser.

Yours sincerely

The Bidder recommends that you give instructions at the earlier opportunity to avoid missing the closing date.

2. Why you should accept this Offer

2.1 Attractiveness of Offer Price

This Offer Price of $0.35 (Offer Price) is for each ASGL Share which represents a premium to the volume weighted average price of $0.3042 over the period from 26 April 2017 to close of trading on 22 May 2017. The price for ASGL Shares as at closing on 22 May 2017 is $0.35.

During the three months ended 22 May 2017 (being the last trading day (on the ASX) prior to the date of this Bidder's Statement):

- (a) the highest recorded sale price for Shares on ASX was $0.99 on 23 February 2017; and
- (b) the lowest record sale price for Shares on ASX was $0.25 on 27 April 2017.

A graph showing the recent share price performance is set out in Section 5.10

2.2 Immediate liquidity

You can accept the Offer immediately on-market.

Cash will be paid to you within the usual settlement of transaction rules (normal T+2 basis).

In the last 3 months, the ASGL Shares have been thinly traded (see table at Section 5.9)

2.3 Certainty of Offer Price

The Offer Price is fixed during the Offer Period and provides certainty as opposed to future uncertain trading prices. The graph in Section 5.10 demonstrates the decrease in ASGL Share price since 21 December 2016.

2.4 Unconditional Offer

This Offer is unconditional, other than on the occurrence of a Prescribed Event or the matters referred to in Section 9.4. Accordingly, you can accept the Offer immediately.

2.5 Risks of holding

- (a) Risks of being a minor shareholder

As the Offer is unconditional all offers accepted by Shareholders will be settled immediately on a normal T+2 basis. If you do not accept the Offer:

- (i) you may be left with a small shareholding;
- (ii) the Shareholder spread after the Offer is completed may be less than required under the ASX Listing Rules; and

- (iii) the ASX may choose to suspend or de-list ASGL in which case, the liquidity in ASGL Shares may be severely impacted.
- (b) Compulsory acquisition

Where the Corporations Act permits, the Bidder intends to exercise its rights to compulsorily acquire the remaining shares at the Offer Price and you may be paid later than accepting Shareholders.
- (c) Future uncertainty
 - (i) Depending on the level of acceptances the Bidder receives under the Offer, the market for ASGL Shares may become even less liquid than at present. This could make it more difficult for you to sell your ASGL Shares at an attractive price in the future.
 - (ii) In light of the trading update and revised profit guidance announcement to the ASX on 26th April 2017, ASGL initiated a review of affected ASGL businesses. On 5th May 2017 ASGL further announced that Ms Tanya Mason had stood down from the role of Chief Executive Officer. The Chairman is currently filling this role on an interim basis pending the appointment of a successor. On 19th May 2017, ASGL also announced that this review was ongoing, that it had identified several areas to enhance operational efficiency and considered that it has strong legal grounds to seek redress from the vendors of Umhauers. Given these events, there is some uncertainty over the future direction and operations of ASGL.

2.6 The Offer is the only takeover offer presently available for your Shares

The Offer is the only takeover offer presently available for all ASGL Shares as at the date of this Bidder's Statement. The Offer represents a liquidity opportunity for Shareholders to sell all their Shares for the Offer Price. As at the date of this Bidder's Statement, the Bidder is not aware of any other party intending to make a takeover offer for ASGL Shares.

2.7 Brokerage by accepting the Offer

By accepting the Offer, you will not pay the Bidder's brokerage costs. You may incur brokerage to your broker if you choose to accept the Offer. You should confirm the fees with your broker.

On the 4th May 2017, ASGL lodged with the ASX, an updated Quarterly Appendix 4C for the Quarter ending 31 March 2017. This document noted that ASGL had finished the quarter with a cash balance of approximately $1.3 million.

It did note however that it had no financing facilities available at that date.

5.7 Other financial information

On 26th April 2017 ASGL provided a trading update and profit guidance. This announcement stated that trading conditions for ASGL had recently been impacted by several factors:

- Revenue and margin performance weaker than anticipated across the two retailing sites (Umhauers) in regional Victoria, due to an increase in localised competition and pricing pressure emerging in the region;
- Revenue reduction in the steel fabrication (Barden) Q4 FY17 forecast due to customer postponement and deferral of specific contract fabrication orders;
- Slower than anticipated Q3 FY17 performance in the Roo Systems business, albeit with a stronger than anticipated order book heading into Q4 FY17 following the Brisbane National 4x4 Show; and
- Ongoing investment in development of standardised marketing collateral to leverage group-wide customer touch-points across all acquired businesses.

In light of the developments highlighted above, ASGL is updating its FY17 2H proforma guidance, per the following table:

FY17 2H Proforma Guidance
	Prospectus Guidance	Updated Guidance
Revenue ($ millions)	21.5	15.0 – 16.5
EBIT ($ millions)	3.3	0.8 – 0.9

ASGL also announced, at that time, that it has commenced a full review of the affected businesses and will update the market once the review is complete within two weeks. This review will include assessment of the cyclical or structural nature of the impacts, and consideration of ASGL alternatives.

On the 5th May 2017 ASGL also announced that:

- the Chief Executive Officer of ASGL, Ms Tanya Mason, had stood down from her role
- The Chairman was currently filling this role pending the appointment of a successor; and
- that the operational review of operations was ongoing.

- Following the successful implementation of the turnaround strategy, the Directors will revert to their non-executive duties, whilst at the same time, transitioning into these roles a new full-time Chief Executive Officer and Chief Operating Officer;
- A small team had been established to address the underperforming businesses and that this team had identified a number of areas to enhance operational efficiency in two of the underperforming businesses;
- ASGLy considered that it has strong legal grounds to seek redress from the vendors of the Umhauer business and is exploring all legal options in this regard; and

6. The Bidder's intentions

6.1 Introduction

This Section sets out the rationale for the Offer and the Bidder's intention in relation to:

- (a) the continuation of the business of ASGL;
- (b) any redeployment of fixed assets which are significant to the business of ASGL; and
- (c) the future employment of the present employees of ASGL.

These intentions are based on the information of ASGL at the time of preparation of this Bidder's Statement.

6.2 Strategic Review

The Bidder and its advisers have reviewed information that has been publicly released by ASGL, its current activities and its plans for the future. However, the Bidder does not currently have access to all material information, facts and circumstances which it considers necessary to assess the operational, commercial, taxation and financial implications of its current intentions in order to make final decisions on these key matters.

While the Bidder's general intentions are set out in Section 6.3, where the Bidder controls more than 50% of the voting power in ASGL's Shares, it proposes to conduct a review of the strategy, operations, activities, assets and employees of ASGL in light of the information which then becomes available to it (Strategic Review).

The Strategic Review will focus on and have as its objectives:

- (a) integrating management operating systems and platforms, administrative procedures, systems and reporting lines;
- (b) reviewing management, employees and operations;
- (c) identifying potential synergies and cost savings, including rent, professional advisory fees and other synergistic operational cost; and
- (d) identifying any revenue enhancement opportunities that may become available through interaction with other parts of the AMA Group of entities.

Final decision will only be reached in light of all material facts and circumstances. Accordingly, the statements set out in this Section are statements of current intention only which may change as new information becomes available or circumstances change.

6.3 Intentions generally

The purpose of the Strategic Review will be to undertake a review of current operations, systems and processes to ascertain opportunities for cost rationalisation and determine synergies which benefit both the Bidder and ASGL. In the short term (except for the changes and intentions set out in this Section 6 and subject to the outcome of the Strategic Review), the Bidder intends, based on the information presently known to it:

- (a) to continue the ASGL current businesses;
- (b) not to make any major material changes to the current businesses of ASGL;
- (c) not to materially redeploy any of the fixed assets of the businesses of ASGL; and
- (d) not to make any immediate material changes to the employment of ASGL's employees.
- (e) The Bidder has already formed a preliminary view that certain cost savings may be achieved by eliminating the duplication of specific tasks which may benefit both entities.

6.4 Intention upon controlling 90% or more of ASGL Shares

Should the Bidder obtain control of 90% or more of ASGL's Shares, it will become a controlled entity of the Bidder and become entitled to acquire the balance of the ASGL Shares under the Corporations Act, the Bidder will:

- (a) proceed with the compulsory acquisition of the balance of the ASGL Shares;
- (b) seek to remove ASGL from the Official List of the ASX;
- (c) seek to replace all non-executive directors with nominees of the Bidder;
- (d) undertake the Strategic Review; and
- (e) meet with key partners (for example, where consent is required under a material contracts (see Section 9.1)).

It is not the Bidder's current intention to substantially change the operating activities of ASGL. Rather, the Bidder would seek to assist ASGL management with their operating activities seeking to grow and expand the size and profitability of its business. As outlined above, the Bidder will however, undertake the Strategic Review of ASGL. The results of which may change these current intentions.

The Bidder considers ASGL's employees to be an integral part of the ASGL's operations. The Bidder will, however, seek to integrate certain functions of ASGL with those of the Bidder to take advantage of cost savings from eliminating duplicated functions. In these circumstances, some positions may become redundant. Where possible, the Bidder will seek to redeploy employees. However, where this is not possible, affected employees will be made redundant in compliance with any applicable legislative or contractual requirements and be paid their full legal entitlements.

6.5 Intentions upon controlling more than 50% but less than 90% of ASGL's Shares

Should the Bidder acquire more than 50%, but less than 90% of the ASGL Shares, ASGL will still become a controlled entity of the Bidder. The Bidder's current intentions are to:

- (a) not substantially change the operating activities of ASGL. Rather AMA would assist ASGL management in their operating activities seeking to grow and expand the size and profitability of these businesses. In addition it would seek to assist the Board of ASGL in the appointment of a new permanent Chief Executive Officer and Chief Operations Officer as the current Chairman of ASGL is acting as executive Chairman rather than as an independent Chairman;
- (b) undertake the Strategic Review, assessing the operations and potentially altering some elements of these activities depending on the findings of this Review;
- (c) maintain ASGL's listing on the ASX, subject to the requirements for listing (including a sufficient spread of investors) continuing to be satisfied. The ASX may, however, decide itself to remove ASGL from the Official List depending upon factors such as the spread of ASGL shareholder at that time, the level of liquidity in ASGL shares and the listing requirements of the ASX;
- (d) subject to the Corporations Act and ASGL's constitution, seek to appoint nominees to the Board of ASGL. The proportion of AMA's nominees to the total number of directors on the Board of ASGL will not exceed AMA's proportionate ownership interest in ASGL. In this scenario, the Bidder may, in its discretion, seek to retain one or more of the existing directors of ASGL on the ASGL Board. AMA has not made any decision as to who would be nominated for appointment to the ASGL Board in this case; and
- (e) meet with key partners (for example, where consent is required under a material contracts (see Section 9.1)).

The Bidder may, at some time in the future, acquire additional ASGL Shares in a manner consistent with the Corporations Act. The Bidder has not yet decided whether it will acquire further ASGL Shares as this will depend upon the extent to which the Bidder has the capacity to acquire further ASGL Shares and market conditions at that time.

If the Bidder becomes entitled, at some time to exercise general compulsory acquisition rights under the Corporations Act, it may exercise those rights.

6.6 Intentions upon controlling 50% or less of ASGL Shares

If the Bidder does not acquire more than 50% of the ASGL Shares, the Bidder will endeavour, to the extent possible through its non-controlling holding of the ASGL Shares, give effect to the intentions set out in this Section. However, the Bidder considers that its ability to effect the intentions set out in this Section 6 will be significantly limited if the Bidder is unable to achieve more than 50%.

The Bidder may consider acquiring additional ASGL Shares under Item 9 in section 611 of the Corporations Act which permits a Bidder and its Associates to acquire up to 3% of ASGL Shares every 6 months (known as the 'creep' exception). The Bidder has not yet decided whether it will acquire further ASGL Shares as this will depend upon the extent to which the Bidder has the capacity to acquire further ASGL Shares and market conditions at that time.

6.7 Limitations on intentions

The intentions and statements of future conduct set out in this Section 6 must be read as being subject to:

- (a) the outcome of the Strategic Review;
- (b) the law (including the Corporations Act) and the Listing Rules, including in particular the requirement of the Corporations Act and the Listing Rules in relation to conflicts of interest and “related party” transactions given that, if the Bidder gains control of ASGL but does not acquire all of the ASGL Shares, it will be treated as a related party of ASGL for these purposes; and
- (c) the legal obligation of the ASGL directors at the time, including any nominees of the Bidder, to act in good faith and in the best interests of ASGL and for the proper purposes and to have regard to the interest of all ASGL Shareholders (in which regard the role of independent directors of ASGL will also be important).

7. Sources of cash consideration

7.1 Maximum amount payable

The consideration for the acquisition of the ASGL Shares under this Offer will be satisfied by the payment of cash (in Australian dollars).

As at the date of this Bidder’s Statement, there are 50,345,622 Shares on issue; 9,082,119 of which are already held by the Bidder.

Accordingly, the total maximum amount of cash which may be required by the Bidder to settle acceptances under the Offer is $14,442,226 (Total Offer Consideration).

7.2 Source of funding

The Bidder already has in place undrawn debt funding arrangements in excess of the Total Offer Consideration.

On 24 August 2016, AMA entered into a new Facility Agreement with National Australia Bank Limited. The key terms of this agreement are:

- a $40 million debt facility, with a tenure of 36 months, to assist in funding acquisitions and general corporate needs;
- a $6.5 million lease facility to assist with the purchase of capital equipment;
- a $3.0 million bank guarantee facility to assist with securing property rental leases; and
- a $0.4 million letter of credit facility.

The Facility is secured by a fixed and floating charge over all of the assets of ASGL and its wholly owned subsidiaries and is subject to standard covenants. As at the date of this

Bidder's Statement, AMA has drawn $6.5 million of the $40 million debt facility and is in compliance with covenants governing this facility.

The Offer will not be sourced from the Bidder's own cash resources.

The Offer is not subject to any financing conditions.

7.3 Provisions of consideration

Having regard to the matters set out in this Section 7, the Bidder is of the opinion that it has a reasonable basis for forming the view, and it holds the view, that it will be able to satisfy its payment obligations under the Offer.

8. Taxation considerations

8.1 Australian tax implications for ASGL Shareholders

The following is a general description of the Australian income tax, Capital Gains Tax (“CGT”) and Goods and Services Tax (“GST”) consequences for ASGL Shareholders on disposing of their ASGL Shares, in return for cash.

The general information contained herein is based upon taxation law and practice in effect at the date of this Bidder’s Statement. It is not intended to be an authoritative or comprehensive analysis of the taxation laws of Australia, nor should it be construed as taxation advice. The summary does not consider any specific facts or circumstances that may apply to particular shareholders. Further, it does not deal with the taxation consequences of disposing of shares issued under an employee share scheme, which may be subject to specific tax provisions.

We recommend you seek independent professional advice regarding the Australian tax consequences of disposing of your ASGL Shares according to your own particular circumstances.

The Australian tax consequences of disposing of your ASGL Shares will depend on a number of factors including:

- whether you are an Australian resident or non-resident for tax purposes;
- whether you hold your ASGL Shares on capital or revenue account or as trading stock;
- when you acquired your ASGL Shares for tax purposes; and
- whether you are an individual, a company or a trustee of a complying superannuation entity.

8.2 Shareholders who are Australian residents for tax purposes

Disposal of shares held as trading stock

If you hold your ASGL Shares as trading stock (e.g. you are carrying on a business as a share trader) you will be required to include the amount of the cash consideration for the disposal of your ASGL Shares in your assessable income. Under the trading stock rules, a deduction would be expected to be claimable for the tax cost base of those shares.

Disposal of shares held on revenue account

If you hold your ASGL Shares on revenue account (e.g. you acquired your ASGL Shares for the main purpose of reselling them at a profit, but are not carrying on a business as a share trader) then you will be required to treat any gain or loss arising on the disposal of your ASGL Shares as either assessable income or, subject to meeting certain integrity provisions, an allowable deduction.

The calculation of the gain or loss will broadly be the difference between the:

- the cash consideration received; and
- the cost of acquiring your ASGL Shares.

Disposal of shares held on capital account

If you hold your ASGL Shares on capital account, the disposal of ASGL Shares will generally have an Australian CGT consequence. The disposal of your ASGL Shares whether under the acceptance of the Offer or the compulsory acquisition of your ASGL Shares will constitute a CGT event for CGT purposes.

The CGT event will occur at the time that you accept the Offer, or at the time that your ASGL Shares are compulsorily acquired.

The CGT implications of a disposal of your ASGL Shares will depend upon a number of factors, including:

- the date your ASGL Shares were acquired for CGT purposes;
- your taxpayer status (e.g. individual, trust, SMSF or company); and
- the length of time you have held your ASGL Shares.

Shares acquired before 11.45am on 21 September 1999

A capital gain or loss will arise depending on the difference between:

- the cash proceeds received; and
- the cost base of the ASGL Shares (which would generally include the amount paid to acquire the shares plus any incidental costs of acquisition, e.g. brokerage fees).

If your ASGL Shares were acquired before 11.45am by legal time in the Australian Capital Territory (ACT time) on 21 September 1999 then for the purpose of calculating a capital gain (but not a capital loss), you may choose that the cost base of those shares be indexed (the “indexation method”).

Alternatively, provided you have held your ASGL Shares for at least 12 months, and you do not choose to apply the indexation method, the discount capital gain provisions may apply (the “discount method”). This means that:

- if you are an individual or trust, half of the capital gain (after offsetting any applicable capital losses) would be included in your assessable income; or
- if you are a complying superannuation fund, two-thirds of the capital gain after offsetting any applicable capital losses would be included in your assessable income².

² If the asset that gives rise to the capital gain was held to provide for a super income stream benefits to members (of the complying superannuation fund) the capital gain may be exempt from tax.

The CGT provisions may also apply to beneficiaries that receive a trust distribution from a trust that makes a capital gain on the disposal of the ASGL Shares. You should seek advice from your professional tax adviser in this regard.

The discount method will not apply to a company making a capital gain. Accordingly, shareholders that are companies will not be able to apply the CGT discount to reduce a capital gain that arises on the disposal of their ASGL Shares.

If you make a capital loss on the disposal of your ASGL Shares, the capital loss may only be used to reduce other capital gains that arise in the same or subsequent income years.

Shareholders applying the discount method must apply any current or prior year capital losses to reduce the gross capital gain before applying the relevant discount. Alternatively, if you choose the indexation method, capital losses are applied after calculating the capital gain using the indexed cost base.

Shares acquired after 11.45 am on 21 September 1999

If you acquired your ASGL Shares after 11.45 am (ACT time) on 21 September 1999 then you will not be entitled to choose the indexation method when calculating a capital gain or loss on the disposal of your ASGL Shares.

If you are an individual, trust or complying superannuation fund, and have held your ASGL Shares for at least 12 months at the time the Offer is accepted (or at the time the ASGL Shares are compulsorily acquired where no acceptance is given) then the discount method will automatically apply in calculating any capital gain on disposal.

Any available capital loss must be applied to reduce the realised gross capital gain before applying the relevant CGT discount.

If your ASGL Shares have been held for less than 12 months, or you are a company, the discount method is not available to you. In these circumstances, the gross capital gain on the shares, being any excess of the value of the capital proceeds over the cost base of the shares, will be assessable in full.

8.3 Shareholders who are not Australian residents for tax purposes

Disposal of shares held as trading stock or on revenue account

If you are not an Australian tax resident and your ASGL Shares are held as trading stock or otherwise on revenue account you should seek your own professional advice.

Disposal of shares held on capital account

Generally speaking if you are not an Australian tax resident and you hold your ASGL Shares on capital account, you are not expected to be subject to Australian CGT on the disposal of your ASGL Shares. However, you should seek your own professional advice.

8.4 Taxation of Financial Arrangements (TOFA)

The TOFA provisions apply to assess gains and losses arising from certain “financial arrangements” on revenue account. In particular, the TOFA provisions will determine the timing of the assessability / deductibility of affected gains or losses.

Generally speaking the TOFA provisions should not apply to a gain or loss arising on the disposal of an ASGL Share unless either a “fair value method” election or a “reliance on financial reports” election has been made by the shareholder. The TOFA rules will only have application to certain taxpayers.

Given the complexity of the TOFA provisions ASGL Shareholders should obtain their own advice in relation to the applicability of the TOFA provisions in light of their own individual facts and circumstances.

8.5 Goods and Services Tax (“GST”)

GST should not be payable on the disposal of your ASGL Shares under the arrangement.

9. Other material information

9.1 Material Contracts

The Bidder is aware that the prospectus issued by ASGL dated 7 December 2016 (Prospectus) states “certain agreements with manufacturers or distributors contain change of control provisions. If a change of control occurs (for example, by way of a takeover offer or other acquisition) those provision require the consent of the relevant manufacturer or distributor. If consent is not obtained as required, the manufacturer or distributor may terminate the relevant agreement”.

As part of the Strategic Review, the Bidder would seek to obtain the consent of those Manufacturers and Distributors. In the event that this approval is not obtained, the Bidder believes it will not have a material impact on ASGL’s businesses as alternative suppliers would be sought.

There may be other agreements (such as leases) which may also have change of control provisions but which ASGL deemed immaterial for the purposes of the Prospectus.

9.2 Regulatory approvals

There are no regulatory approvals that the Bidder must obtain in order to make and complete the Offer.

9.3 ASIC Modification and exemptions

The Bidder has not obtained from ASIC any modifications of, or exemptions from, the Corporations Act in relation to the Offer. However, ASIC has published various instruments providing for modifications and exemptions that apply generally to all persons, including the Bidder, in relation to the operation of Chapters 6 and 6A of the Corporations Act.

The Bidder has relied on the modification to section 636(3) of the Corporations Act set out in paragraph 5(D) of ASIC Class Order 13/521 ‘Takeover Bids’ to include:

- (a) references to certain statements by ASGL and the ASGL Directors in this Bidder’s Statement without obtaining the consent of those persons. The relevant statements were taken from certain ASGL ASX announcements; and
- (b) trading data sourced from Bloomberg and IRESS without their consent.

As required by ASIC Class Order 13/521, the Bidder will make available a copy of this Bidder’s Statement (or relevant extracts from these documents), free of charge, to ASGL Shareholders who request them during the Offer Period. To obtain a copy please contact Mr Andy Sibley of AMA Group Limited on 07 3897 5780 (from within Australia) or +61 7 3897 5780 (from outside Australia).

9.4 Withdraw and Prescribed Events

The Bidder may only withdraw its Offer where a Prescribed Event occurs provided that its voting power is at or below 50% when the Prescribed Event happens.

The Bidder may also withdraw the Offer at any time (regardless of percentage of voting power) on the occurrence of any of the following events:

- (a) a liquidator or provisional liquidator of ASGL or of a subsidiary of ASGL is appointed;
- (b) a court makes an order for the winding up of ASGL or of a subsidiary of ASGL;
- (c) an administrator of ASGL, or of a subsidiary of ASGL, is appointed under section 436A, 436B or 436C of the Corporations Act;

- (e) a receiver, or a receiver and manager, is appointed in relation to the whole, or a substantial part, of the property of ASGL or of a subsidiary of ASGL.
